NEGROES LYNCHED AT HENDERSON.

Henderson, Texas, Nov. 13.—A mob of two hundred persons broke into the jail here Sunday morning at 1:10, and took therefrom three negroes whom they swung up on the public square.

The negroes, one of whom was a minister, were charged with the murder of a farmer ten miles from town a few days ago. Soon after the killing five negroes were arrested, but the mob took only three, claiming that these three were the ones who did the killing and that the others were mere accomplices. John Reese and Robert Askew were two of them. The name of the third is not known.

Entrance to the jail was effected by battering down the doors and overpowering the officers.

Everything proceeded in an orderly manner. There was little evidence of excitement except that displayed by the act of the mob in taking the prisoners, and there was no shooting.

There were five of the negroes arrested last Wednesday. They were jailed and Sheriff Stone and the county attorney set about to secure evidence.

The sheriff went to Longview and laid the matter before Judge Levy. The judge ordered a special session of the district court to be held at Henderson Nov. 22, at which time an investigation of the matter was to be made. This, in a manner, pacified the people, and the impression prevailed that no violence would be attempted. The belief of the officers was that the people were willing to let the law take its course.

Late Saturday night, a mob appeared at the jail. While there was no fight by the officers at the jail, yet they did everything in their power to prevent the mob from taking possession of the negroes.

The story goes that three negroes entered Howell's house on the night of the murder and killed him while two others stood outside and watched.

The mob worked so quietly that persons living 100 yards away from the scene of the lynching were not aroused from their sleep.

At 2 a. m. the crowd quietly dispersed. There were fully two hundred of these people. They came from the neighborhood ten miles north, the community in which Elias Howell lived.

When the mob first approached the jail, and after a short parley the officers finding it useless to resist, the mob entered and took out all five of the negroes.

In the lot was Will Williams, whom the mob was satisfied was one of the men who stood guard while the murder was being committed. Members of the mob declared that it was known to them that he had made a confession to the County Attorney and the Sheriff, implicating the other four.

Williams was made to mount a box at the door of the jail and there to tell the story to the mob as he had told it to the authorities. The three negroes who were hung were John Reese, Robert Askew and Henry Schorow. The men were hanged on a sycamore tree in the courthouse yard.

NOTED PRISONER WAS IN JAIL

Here Last Night—The Noted Jim Allen of the Southwestern Silk Gang.

Sheriff Russell of Grayson county and Superintendent Baker of the State penitentiaries arrived in the city last night, having in charge one of the most noted and most desperate criminals in this country, the famous Jim Allen of the Southwestern silk gang, who was sent to the penitentiary from Beaumont a few months ago on a charge of burglary and given a sentence of eighteen years in State's prison. He is being carried to Sherman to stand trial on another charge in which he is supposed to have figured in a big silk steal in Denison and Sherman.

It will be remembered that on last Christmas week while the sheriff of Grayson county and a sheriff from the Indian Territory were bringing Allen and one of his companions from the Territory to Sherman to stand trial for theft, the prisoners in some way secured arms and while the sheriff of Grayson county was out of the car temporarily, shot and killed the Territory sheriff and made their escape. The other prisoner was soon after recaptured, but Allen disappeared. He was next heard of in Beaumont, where he was captured and sentenced as above stated. At the time he was sentenced he abused the court for everything he could think of and threatened revenge. He was later identified as the famous Jim Allen, murderer and thief. His gang is supposed to be the same one that has been operating in this section for the past several years, their operations including Denison, Sherman, Beaumont,

A COTTON WAREHOUSE

Henderson County Farmers Have Formed Stock Company and Will Build Warehouse.

Arrangements have been about perfected for the building of a cotton warehouse in this city, by a stock company composed of Anderson county farmers. Through Mr. Trice, general manager of the I. & G. N. railroad, the Herald learns, they have secured on a lease the plot of ground on which is located the fire house, and will build in ample time to take care of the next cotton crop. The move is a good one, and the Herald believes will prove a very profitable one to the farmers, as well as to the city.

With the facilities afforded by such a warehouse the farmer can bring his cotton to town, store it, and draw what money he needs, selling his cotton when the price suits him.

Marshall, Tyler and other Texas towns. The officers left this morning with their prisoner. They stopped over here to avoid traveling at night.

Allen is a small man, and at first sight does not look like a very desperate man, but his eye, if you can catch it, is bad and tricky. He has a hand in a sling at present, as he got a finger cut off in machinery at the State prison a few days ago.

County Commissioners.

The county commissioners met this afternoon in regular session, and got right down to business at the morning session. The business to be transacted will require two or three days.
